CAMPUS PHOTO ALBUM

Volume I, Number 1 MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE, MIDDLEBURY, VERMONT May 11, 1978

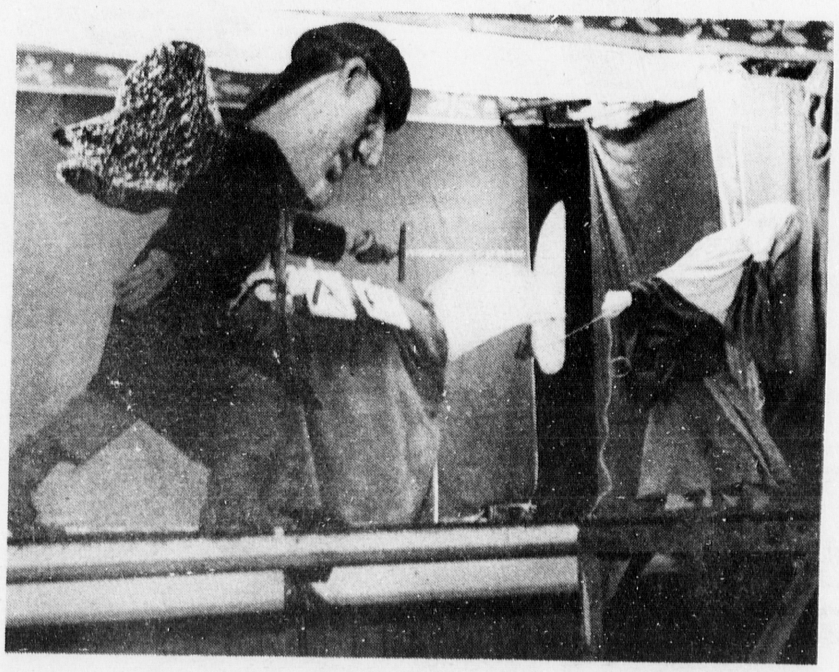
October 12, 1977
Linc Jackson

front page photos

Little person at Williams football game takes time out to offer some good counsel to a friend.

The sun also rises.

January 25, 1978
Peter Duncan



A scene from a performance in McCullough Gym by the internationally known Bread and Puppet Theater.

February 1, 1978
Scott Kissinger

Looking back, the snow wasn't so bad, was it?

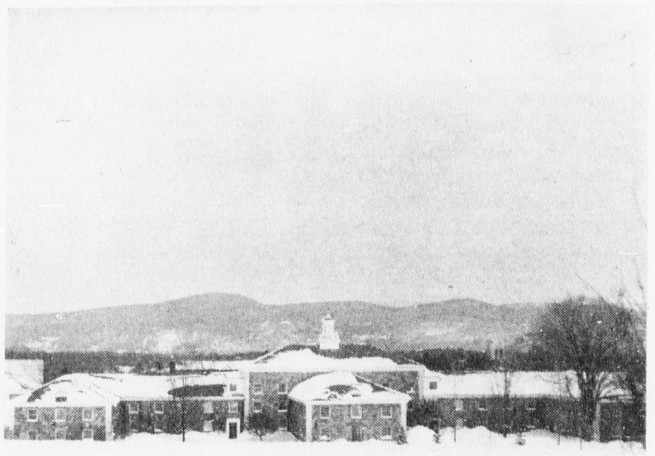
January 18, 1978
Joe Lovering

1977-1978

Rustic tranquility of Vermont autumn reflects upon itself.

November 9, 1978
Richard Tarlov

January 25, 1978
Tom Arcidiacono



The snow clings to its mother earth. The moon rises over Battell.

more front page

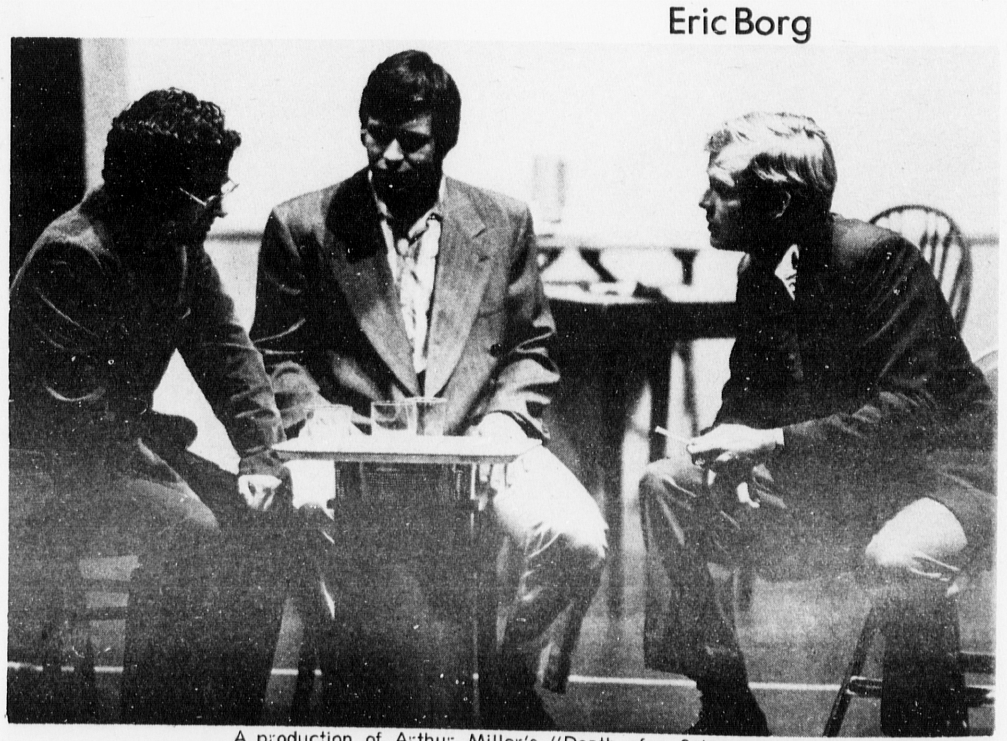
March 1, 1978
Jennifer Atkins

For every thing there is a season--a time to ski and partake of Carnival festivities, a time to loosen your bindings and relax.

Splendid "aftermath" of season's biggest snowstorm.

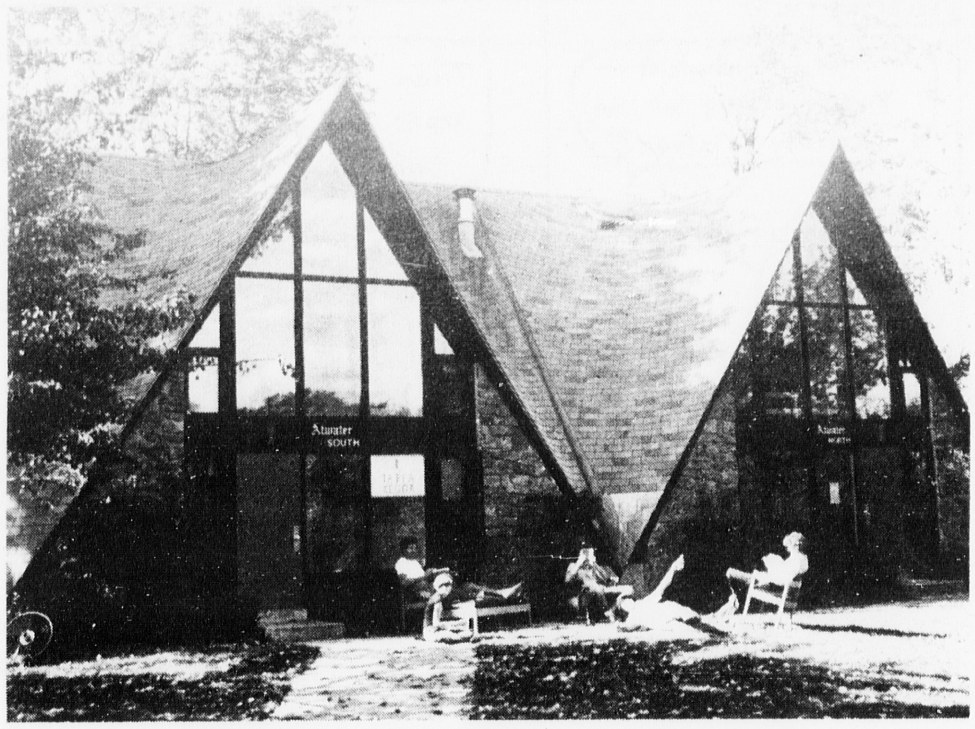
February 1, 1978
Scott Kissiger

October 26, 1977
Eric Borg



A production of Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman" will highlight this fall's Parents' Weekend activities.

January 25, 1978
Stephen Dzoghi



Atwater/Davis: when the weather was warmer, the location was much more bearable.

Taking advantage of spring temperatures, students jammed in front of the new dorms.

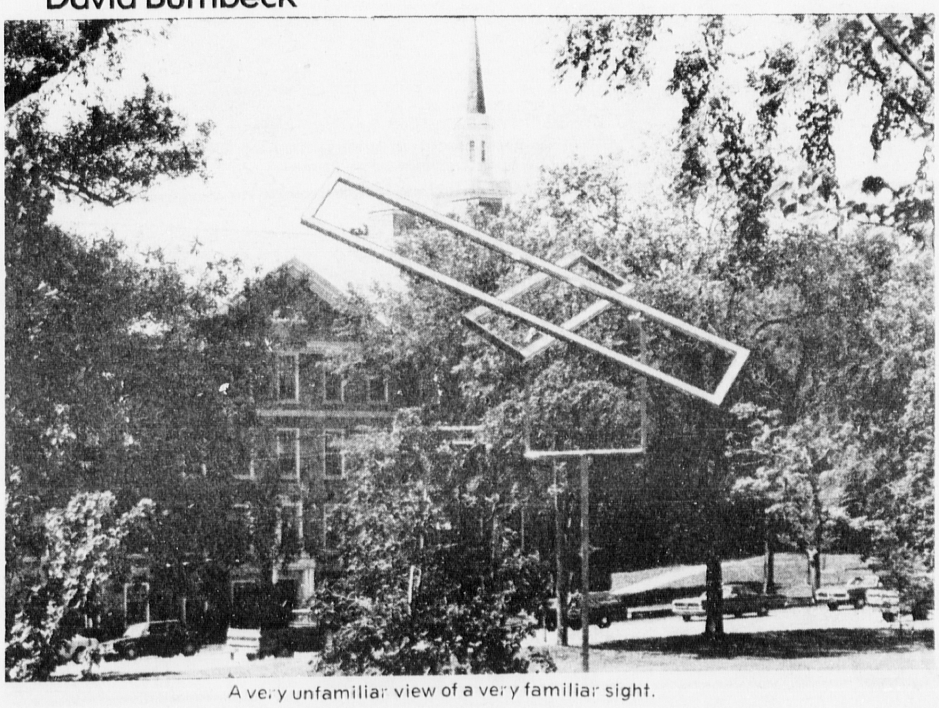
May 3, 1978
Richard Tarlov

Director Charles Frankel and his lead actress Alison McQuaig film their "anti-romance" in the great outdoors.

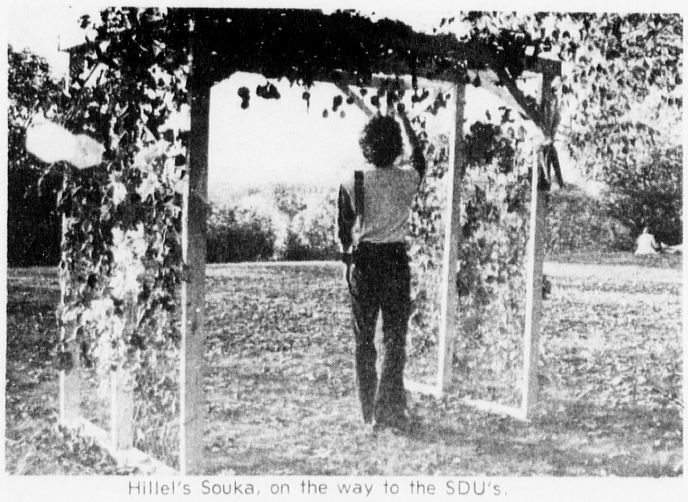
September 28, 1977
Richard Tarlov

life hereabouts

November 2, 1977
David Bumbeck



A very unfamiliar view of a very familiar sight.



Hillel's Souka, on the way to the SDU's.

October 5, 1977
Richard Tarlov